All sizes of decorations adorn residence

Christmas ornament collector running out of space in home

By GEOFF MAVIS

Record-Herald Staff Writer
The Christmas decorations that adorn Mrs. Dorothy Dellinger's front porch may catch the eye of many a passerby. The outside, however, shows just a part of the annual yuletide ornamentation that has been displayed by Mrs. Dellinger for the past 45 years of her 52 years of residency in Washington C.H.

Inside, six out of seven rooms are filled to the hilt with Christmas articles of every conceivable size, shape, and nature. Ceramic Santa Clauses and reindeer line bookshelves; candy cane chains entwined with tinsel frame doorways; and thousands more religious and traditional artifacts fill and hang from every nook and cranny in the home located at 308 N. Main St.

Mrs. Dellinger has added to her extensive collection throughout the years, until now her present home is not large enough to hold all of her items, and she must keep more decorations stored in a shed outside. Her bedroom, the only room without ornamentation, serves as a workshop for her wreath creations and nativity scene layouts.

Every year, around the end of November, work begins on the project, and usually takes about two weeks of steady, solitary effort by Mrs. Dellinger. After their completion, the rooms remain as such through mid-January, helping to promote a holiday atmosphere for the party that Mrs. Dellinger hosts.

Most of the articles in the collection were bought at local stores over the year, but some items still in use are almost 60 years old. These older decorations originally graced early family Christmas trees. Gradually, Mrs. Dellinger began to add to the log cabin and circular train track that were displayed at the base of the tree.

Having been an employee at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, near Dayton, for more than 30 years, Mrs. Dellinger is now retired and likes to devote her time to various goodwill projects besides her annual Christmas display. She often makes holiday favors for shut-ins at Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

Last year, at the beginning of December, Mrs. Dellinger opted for the warm beaches of Hawaii, and therefore was not able to decorate the household enough to suit her great-grandchildren's fancies. Their desire for "the indoor fairyland" was not fulfilled, and they apparently raised such a ruckus that Mrs.

Dellinger started her Christmas work earlier this year.

One Thanksgiving Day one motorist was so dazzled by the outdoor spectacle at night that he almost ran his car off the street.

Next year, however, Mrs. Dellinger plans to tone down the outdoor lighting arrangement, and set the scene for a replica of Santa's workshop. Hopefully

As captain of a 4-H awareness team, she visited Washington C.H. elementary schools, promoting the organization with students in grades three through six. She encountered one group of girls who wanted to be in a 4-H club, but couldn't find a leader. Susan and her sister, Mary Ann, 19, accepted the challenge and became club leaders.

Susan was soon teaching the girls the fundamentals of nutrition and sewing.

At Fayette County Fair time, the girls earned their share of ribbons. This provided Susan with the incentive to continue, and to expand the activities.

At each meeting she taught the girls proper parliamentary procedure to prepare them for the future when they would hold club offices.

With the help of her girls, Susan staged a Flag Day bake sale, raising enough money to plant and maintain a flower garden around the 4-H flag pole at the Fayette County Fairgrounds, according to Jack Sommers, Fayette County 4-H extension agent.

To further her leadership abilities, the young 4-H club leader spent weekends at the Proctor Center and Camp Clifton, working with counselors.

Susan swerved five years on the Fayette County fashion board, and also was a member of the dress revue committee.

A freshman at Ohio State University in Columbus, Susan is a nine-year 4-H club member. Her career choices are in teaching home economics or extension work.

Her other 4-H projects have included clothing, nutrition and beef.

Ford continues in-depth talks

PEKING (AP) — President Ford and China's acting premier held a significant talk "covering a wide range of international issues" today, the White House reported.

It was the second business meeting between the visiting American leader and First Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping. The White House said the session on the third day of Ford's five-day visit to China lasted 2½ hours, half an hour longer than their first meeting on Tuesday.

"Significant" was also the word which Ford as well as the Chinese used to describe the President's talk Tuesday with Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

"It was a significant conversation," the President told newsmen. "It covered a very wide range of matters involving the international scene as well as our bilateral relations."

Neither the President nor other sources gave any information about what the 81-year-old Chinese leader discussed. But it was assumed that he emphasized his government's fear that Soviet-American detente is being construed by Moscow as a green light for Soviet expansion in Asia.

Mao made small talk with Ford, his wife and daughter and seven American friends for 15 minutes, then sat down for an hour and 35 minutes of discussion with the President, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and three of their aides. A Chinese communique said they had "earnest and significant discussions . . . on wide-ranging issues in friendly atmosphere."

Mrs. Ford told newsmen Mao's eyes "lighted up quite brightly" when he saw the Fords' 18-year-old daughter, Susan. But a color film of the meeting televised in Peking today showed that Mao gave his biggest welcome to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, whom he had met three times previously.

Shaking with laughter, the Chinese leader vigorously pumped the beaming Kissinger's hand for half a minute. He pointed with his left hand to Ford as he made some remarks. But the film was silent, and there was no report of what he said.

When he said good-bye, Mao again shook Kissinger's hand demonstratively and held it much longer than did those of Ford or the three other American officials who sat in on the talk.

"It was exciting, a surprise," said Mrs. Ford. "I was impressed at his strength and his health. He looked exactly like his pictures."

She said she told Mao "it was a great honor for him to receive us."

Mao, who will be 82 on Dec. 26, has been reported to have difficulty speaking since a stroke, and Mrs. Ford was asked whether he could be clearly understood.

"Some of it was very clear, and some was perhaps hard to understand," she said.

Ohio marketbasket near even

By JOE McKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer

Ups and downs were evenly split on the Ohio Associated Press Marketbasket during November but the average cost of the total shopping list went up 1 cent over the end of October.

Egg prices led the gainers—14 per cent above the previous month—and margarine led declining prices with a drop of 7 per cent.

Among the 16 items priced in 16 Ohio cities for the survey, seven rose, seven declined and two registered no change in the end of October-end of November comparison.

The meat counter was the brightest spot for shoppers with 3 per cent decline in hamburger and chuck roast, a half-cent drop in whole frying chickens and .09 of a per cent drop in pork chops.

A half-gallon of whole milk rose 3 per cent, peanut butter up 4 per cent, bread up 3 per cent, coffee up 3 per cent, detergent up .08 of a percent and orange juice up 2 per cent for the month.

'Dirty trick' plan blamed on Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover approved a plan to discredit a Midwest black militant leader with anonymous letters accusing him of adultery and of being a bureau informant, according to FBI documents.

The documents, made available by the Senate intelligence committee, show that the bureau's campaign against Charles E. Koen lasted from 1968 to 1971 and was approved at each step of the way by the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

However, it was unclear whether the letters were ever actually sent to Koen, whom a committee spokeswoman said is currently a minister in Cairo, Ill.

According to the FBI documents, the campaign against Koen began in November 1968 with a proposal by St. Louis FBI officials to send him an anonymous letter criticizing him for referring to the possible use of violence in his public speeches.

The letter would purport to be from members of Students for a Democratic Society in St. Louis and "would have an adverse effect on the consolidatory efforts of the SDS and the Black Liberators," according to the proposal approved by Hoover.

Two months later, Hoover authorized the FBI's Baltimore office to send an anonymous letter to the No. 2 man in the Black Liberator movement informing him that Koen was working for either the CIA or FBI.

The letter, signed "A Soul Brother," said Koen "was in Baltimore last week and spent most of his time in the Justice Building. Don't know whether that cat was talking to CIA or FBI."

The FBI documents also include a 1969 memo from the head of the FBI's St. Louis office who claims the campaign forced Koen's resignation as head of the Black Liberators, a black militant group.

In February 1969, after Koen had resigned as head of the Black Liberators, the FBI chief in St. Louis proposed mailing an anonymous letter designed "to alienate (Koen) from his wife and cause suspicion among the Black Liberators that they have a dangerous troublemaker in their midst," an FBI document said.

According to the proposal, Koen's wife, "appears to be a faithful loving wife" and "an intelligent, respectable young mother, who is active in the AME Methodist Church."

Statewide, the most expensive city was Athens at $19.63, up from $19.23 a month earlier while the cheapest was Massillon at $16.72. No October figure was available from Massillon for comparison.

The average for the total list in the 16 cities was $18.61, up a penny from October.

Aside from the butcher counter, declining average prices were seen in a five-pound bag of granulated sugar, down 3 per cent, and a ten-pound bag of white potatoes, down 4 per cent.

Toilet tissue and chocolate chip cookies were unchanged on averages.

The end of November average prices by items was: hamburger, 88 cents per pound; chuck roast, $1.16 per pound; chicken 69 cents per pound; center cut pork chops $2.04 per pound; milk 76 cents per half gallon; margarine 57 cents a pound in sticks; peanut butter 69 cents for a 12 ounce jar; eggs, 79 cents for a dozen medium white; toilet tissue 74 cents for a four-roll pack; bread 35 cents for a one pound loaf; sugar, $1.26 for five pounds; potatoes, $1.40 for ten pounds;

Coffee, $4.29 for a three pound can; detergent, $1.32 for a 49 ounce package; chocolate chip cookies, 98 cents for a 14½ ounce package, and orange juice, 66 cents for a frozen 12 ounce can.

The anonymous letter would be sent to Mrs. Koen telling her that her husband has "been making it here with Sister Marva Bass and Sister Tony and then he gives us this jive 'bout their (sic) better in bed then (sic) you."

It was to be followed by sending a copy of the anonymous letter to Koen with the note "I understand she recently received this letter ... I suggest you look into this matter."

In a memo authorizing the operation,

Hoover directed the agents to "use commercially purchased stationery and take the other precautions set out to insure this cannot be traced to this bureau."

The next and final step in the FBI campaign against Koen came in February 1971 when Hoover approved a proposal for circulating a cartoon sketch of Koen that "would emphasize the cost of Koen's attire and inquire as to the source of his funds."

Terrorist demands rejected by Dutch

BEILEN, The Netherlands (AP) — Five Indonesians holding about 50 hostages aboard a hijacked train stranded in northern Holland opened fire on a would-be mediator today and released a Chinese cook with new demands.

More than 150 armed men ringed the train but kept out of range. Two persons were killed aboard the train shortly after the hijacking, and the men in the cordon made no attempt to get aboard.

The Chinese cook brought a message demanding an engineer for the train, food and drink for 55 persons, a bullhorn and medicine for an epileptic and a diabetic, officials said.

The hijackers opened fire on an official who drove toward the train in an attempt to open negotiations. One shot hit within 10 yards of the car, and the driver pulled back.

The Indonesians released four persons shortly after they took over the train, and three others escaped by jumping off. But police said a report that two other hostages jumped off and hid apparently was incorrect.

The Dutch government rejected an earlier demand from the hijackers that they be given safe conduct out of the country with some of their hostages. Justice Minister Dries Van Agt said Tuesday night that "under no circumstances" would the hijackers be allowed to leave the country with hostages.

Armed with pistols and a hunting rifle, the Indonesians seized the four-coach local train Tuesday, killed the engineer and another man and took the passengers hostage, officials reported. The train was standing on the track in an open field, ringed by police, marine commandos and army marksmen. But they stayed 650 yards from the train because the Indonesians were "shooting at anything that moves," a police spokesman said.

Officials said the gang attached dynamite to the train and threatened to blow it up unless their demands were met.

The hijackers were reported to be militant exiles from the South Molucca or Spice Islands, the scene of an unsuccessful revolt against Indonesia in 1950. It was believed that they were trying to call attention to the South Moluccan independence movement.

Three women released from the train with a 3-year-old child shortly after the hijacking brought the police a demand for transportation to Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport, 90 miles away, and a plane to fly the hijackers out of the country with an unspecified number of hostages.

Another demand apparently was for two transistor radios. But when a policeman stripped to his underwear and tried to take them to the train, the hijackers warned him off. An official said several passengers aboard the train were known to have radios.

About 40,000 South Moluccans are living in The Netherlands. Members of the independence movement seized the Indonesian Embassy in The Hague in 1970 during a visit by President Suharto and took eight hostages, including members of the ambassador's family.

Money bill ready for final action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final congressional action on a $36-billion money bill, from which Senate and House conferees stripped an amendment aimed against government orders requiring busing to desegregate schools, is expected soon.

The conference committee approved a compromise version of the funding bill for the Department of Labor and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare on Tuesday.

Swift action is expected to avoid the chance of a pocket veto of the bill, which exceeds President Ford's budget request by about $1 billion. When Congress is in session, the President has 10 days to sign or veto a bill. If Congress is recessed — and the legislators intend to adjourn for the year either on Dec. 12 or Dec. 19 — he can pocket veto a bill — let it die without action.

The conferees dropped a Senate amendment, sponsored by Delaware Democrat Joseph R. Biden Jr., which was designed to prevent HEW from withholding federal education aid from school districts which refuse to desegregate by assigning teachers or students on the basis of race.

The conferees left unsettled the fate of a second important antibusing amendment, sponsored by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

This will be taken back to the House for a separate vote there.

The Byrd proposal would stop HEW from requiring that school districts bus students to schools other than the one nearest their home as a way of ending racial segregation.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., a conferee and foe of antibusing amendments, told a reporter that the House managers of the bill would offer an amendment to water down the language of the Byrd rider before a vote on it.

Neither the Biden nor the Byrd amendment would affect court-ordered busing.

Sources in Washington said Kissinger had promised "in principle" last week to veto the Palestinian participation.

New Kennedy, King inquiries

Disclosures about questionable CIA and FBI activities have all but mandated further inquiry into the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. This disturbingly reaffirms the extent to which these agencies, charged with primary responsibility in areas of law enforcement and national security, have violated their trust.

In neither case is there any assurance that a full re-investigation will be undertaken. Perhaps that is just as well, though all new leads should be thoroughly pursued so that newly aroused doubts can be laid to rest.

While there are certain similarities in the two cases, there also are marked differences. In the Kennedy affair the question is whether the Warren Commission findings might have been different had the CIA and the FBI not withheld information from the Commission, especially information about CIA plots against the life of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. As to King's murder in Memphis, this must be freshly considered in light of confirmation that he was long the target of vindictive harassment by the FBI on orders of J. Edgar Hoover.

In our judgment President Ford is right in proposing that "some responsible group or organization" ought to investigate what he calls "new developments" in the John Kennedy assassination. However, we question whether any limitation should be placed on what the group may look into, as the President suggests. If all doubts are to be resolved, the investigators must be free to proceed without restrictions.

In the matter of Martin Luther King, by calling for a review of the file Attorney General Edward H. Levi may in fact have committed himself to reopening the investigation. A Justice Department report that the investigation was as thorough as need be is not likely to quash suspicions aroused by the FBI's sustained vendetta against King for years prior to his death.

NEWS ITEM: NONSMOKERS' RIGHTS BILL INTRODUCED IN CONGRESS.

Ohio Perspective

Rights panel evades ruling

By WILLIAM KRONHOLM
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Supreme Court ruling which had the potential for crippling the Ohio Civil Rights Commission has in fact barely cramped the commission's style.

The ruling said that corporations could not be compelled to testify against themselves in commission proceedings. The ruling had the potential of barring the commission from seeking records of companies suspected of discrimination.

But the commission made an end run around the decision by getting another court decision that the Supreme Court ruling applied only in housing cases, not in cases alleging discrimination in employment or public accommodations.

And attorneys say housing is the one area where records are not critical in proving a discrimination case.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jack Ruzichio, the commission's chief counsel, said the decision went against the general rule that corporations are not entitled to Fifth Amendment rights.

The Ohio court based its ruling on the wording of the statute setting up the commission. The statute defines a corporation as a "person," and later says that "no person shall be compelled to be a witness against himself."

Ruzichio said after that decision, legal researchers determined that self-incrimination privileges apply only in criminal cases.

Housing is the only type of discrimination carrying a criminal penalty—a $100 to $500 fine. Discrimination in employment or accommodations is handled by a civil court action, such as a cease and desist order.

Armed with that research, Ruzichio said, the commission got a ruling from the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court that the Supreme Court ruling could be invoked only in housing cases.

Since 90 to 95 per cent of the commission's cases are on employment, the brunt of the court's ruling was deflected, Ruzichio said. The commission still could demand employment records to determine if a pattern of discrimination existed.

Ruzichio said housing cases still can be made without records.

"Usually what happens is a black or a female goes (for an apartment) and gets turned down. Then a white 'checker' goes with the same fact story and gets the apartment.

"It's a pretty strong case of discrimination," he said.

The only drawback, he said, is that sometimes the commission cannot get records which would tend to exonerate landlords and ends up prosecuting a case without merit, wasting state money.

A bill is pending in the legislature to completely remove Fifth Amendment rights from corporations. Ruzichio said he hopes it will pass early next year.

Gen. William S. Smith, 1830-1916, born at Tarlton, Pickaway County, invented the air-filled caisson used in building underwater foundations for bridges, and solved the problem of erecting skyscrapers on the filled-in ground along Chicago's lake front.

Mayors disagree over busing

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The most widespread agreement among the nation's city officials is that they disagree so fundamentally on school busing that they dare not try to take a stand on it as a group.

As court-ordered busing to achieve racial integration emerged as a volatile issue in the 1970s, both the National League of Cities and its sister organization, the U.S. Conference of Mayors, avoided in each year, including this one, issuing any policy statement on school busing as a desegregation tool.

The league represents 15,000 cities and the conference speaks for those cities with more than 30,000 residents.

At the Conference of Mayors meeting last July in Boston, the city executives said not a word about busing even though 30 floors above them in the same hotel, 100 antibusing demonstrators led by Louise Day Hicks seized Mayor Kevin White's suite for most of a day. They also ignored antibusing protesters who marched and chanted outside the hotel during most of the conference.

Plant blast defendant clairvoyant?

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The brother of the Rev. David N. Bubar, one of 10 men accused of plotting to destroy a Shelton factory, told a federal court jury Tuesday the defendant has clairvoyant and prophetic powers.

David Bubar, a minister from Memphis, Tenn., told several persons in February that catastrophe would befall the Sponge Rubber Products Co., where he was a consultant.

He and eight others are being tried on arson-related charges stemming from a March 1 explosion and fire that destroyed a $10 million building at the company.

A 10th defendant has pleaded guilty and testified for the state.

The Rev. Benjamin Bubar of China, Maine, a presidential candidate on the Prohibition Party ticket, said his brother occasionally was spanked as a child for predicting the arrival of unexpected visitors or revealing occurrences in other towns.

He said the defendant predicted three years ago his brother would become involved in politics last summer, as the Maine minister did when he decided to run for president.

The minister was among a half-dozen witnesses to testify about Bubar's powers as the trial entered its defense stage this week.

Judge Jon O. Newman called off testimony for Wednesday to allow Bubar's attorney, Rudolph L. Zalowitz, to visit his wife in a New Jersey hospital where he said she was admitted for cancer treatment Thanksgiving day.

Zalowitz withdrew a request to be absent for a week after Bubar objected to having another lawyer represent him temporarily, as Newman had proposed when Zalowitz made the request.

GETTING HOLIDAY JOBS DONE

The extra demands of holiday shopping, decorating, and entertaining can be pleasant tasks not just seasonal chores. The secret is good planning.

As a first step, get a special notebook for this year's holiday planning. Divide the jobs into categories — cards, gifts, shopping ideas, entertaining, tree trimming, etc. Itemize job steps, make notes, write down ideas and details.

A calendar is another planning tool. Put on it all your activities and add these for other family members. For example — the school gift exchange, trips for the church dinner.

Your list will depend on you and your family. How much entertaining will you do? Do you participate in many social, church, or community activities? How do you expect your house to look? Don't forget that, in the home, people are important — not how clean the house is, how great a cook we are, or how many Christmas gifts we make. What is important is how happy, satisfied, and achieving are the family members.

If your list has more jobs than you can possibly get done, now's the time for drastic action. Try the Gotta, Oughta, Wanna, and Forget it approach.

At breakfast, jot down all the jobs you want to accomplish that day. Give each job a priority — jobs you "gotta" do, "oughta" do, "wanna" do, and jobs you can forget. Then, work through your list from most important to least important.

If a very detailed schedule makes you feel pressured, remember that all schedules need not be written. Perhaps you are more comfortable with just a mental check-list. The idea is to think through the things you need to accomplish, then do them in order of importance.

Any time plan needs flexibility to allow for those inevitable interruptions. But recognize certain time robbers, too-careless habits, poor tools, work methods, equipment arrangement. Perhaps you need some new skills or need to change old ways of doing things. You may need to change your standards — this means examining what's really important to you.

Other ways to save time might be: Reduce the amount of time to do a task, especially routine jobs or jobs you dislike.

Decide when you are most productive and do as much work as possible during that time.

Offer yourself an incentive, maybe a phone break when a certain job is done.

Don't waste odds and ends of time; use them for "mini" jobs.

Saving time is strictly a do-it-yourself job, but it pays high dividends. It may even help you to truly enjoy the holidays!

HOLIDAY BUFFET MEALS

Easy-to-manage buffet service frequently is the answer for serving large holiday meals. Plan a buffet meal well in advance to eliminate the last-minute frenzy and help you enjoy the dinner as much as your guests do.

Here are some suggestions to help you:

Plan a simple, hearty meal that can be served to a crowd in the space available. Space limits may mean that the meal must be eaten from a tray or a plate held in the hands. Knives are difficult to use in such a situation, so plan food that doesn't need cutting or spreading. Pre-buttered rolls, diced or thinly sliced meat, casseroles, and "finger foods" all are easy to eat.

Serve appetizers before the meal. While guests enjoy them, place the main serving dishes. The good will be hot or cold as desired when the guests are ready to come to the buffet table.

If you plan a mostly cold meal, serve a hot appetizer — perhaps a clear broth or hot, spiced tomato juice, served in small cups.

Cold foods should be really cold. It helps to set serving bowls and platters on beds of crushed ice. These can be decorative and serviceable. Thermal containers can also keep foods well chilled through serving period.

Hot foods should be served hot — for appetite appeal and for food safety. Candle-warmers, electric hot trays, chafing dishes, and thermal containers are all useful for maintaining the needed heat.

If the serving period is to be a long one, use small dishes of food on the serving table and replace or refill them as needed. This helps maintain good quality and proper temperature.

Serve dessert shortly after the main meal. Guests can visit while you clear the serving table and reset it for dessert. Arrange for self-service for coffee and/or other beverages. Or ask someone to "pour". A separate self-service beverage table available throughout the meal may reduce traffic jams at the main buffet table.

Simplicity is the first key to a successful large group meal. Attractiveness is a close second. Here's your chance to use your prettiest dishes and linens. Even disposable service can and should be attractive. For an extra-long table, use an attractive printed or colored sheet. Decorate the table to enhance the food.

At Rotary Club's meeting

Iran travelog presented

Travels of Iran provided the format for the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club program Tuesday afternoon in the Country Club.

Elmer N. Reed, 619 Fairway Drive, narrated slides of his three-month trip to Iran this summer. He had served as a consultant to an Iranian manufacturing company through the International Executive Service Corp., headquartered in New York.

The organization solicits retired volunteers who have a special area of expertise which can assist the growing country's economy.

Reed, 66, had earlier retired from his post as supervisor of the industrial engineering department for Armco Steel Corp. in Washington C.H. He was assigned a position with the Samaye Felezie Co., Iran, a producer of mobile living units for construction workers in Iranian oil fields.

One requirement of the mobile units was that they be exceptionally well insulated. While some of the oil fields are located on some of the world's most torrid desert, others are in outlying regions where temperatures reach 20 degrees below zero.

Total below normal average

November rainfall only 1.26 inches

Precipitation recorded in Washington C.H. during the month of November totaled only 1.26 inches, according to the monthly report prepared by Coyt A. Stookey, official Washington C.H. weather observer.

The precipitation total of 1.26 inches for the 30-day period was 1.44 inches below the established average of 2.70 inches of precipitation for the month of November.

Stookey said the precipitation total for the first 11 months of the year is 4.08

Police probe immunities granted

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three of four men granted immunity from prosecution have testified before a special Hamilton County grand jury probing possible corruption in the Cincinnati Police Division.

All four were connected with tavern operations in the city, court officials said. The fourth man was scheduled to appear today.

William Poulous, Andrew Stanley and Charles Noiman all testified after Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr., asked for immunity for them.

However, Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge William S. Mathews said the men would not be immune from prosecution on charges other than crimes unearthed in testimony before the grand jury.

Hyman Baumeister, the fourth man, at first refused to testify Tuesday. He had asked for a lawyer before agreeing to appear before the grand jury.

Leis said testimony from the four was needed "for a full and complete investigation of criminal conduct which may have occurred."

The probe was launched a month ago by an anonymous letter to news outlets and public officials. The letter, which indicated it came from police officers, alleged wrongdoing among high ranking officials including mishandling of Police District "slush funds," bribes and kickbacks, and misuse of police personnel for work on private property.

The manufacturing plant had some 650 employees and was managed by an Iranian educated at the University of Connecticut. Reed and his staff had hoped to step up production of the units to one every six hours, and by the conclusion of his stay, the goal was within reach.

The guest speaker showed slides and discussed Tehran, the country's capital city. He noted that the population is approaching five million people housed in a sprawling array of modern buildings. This is a complete contrast to other areas of the country in which some of the world's most primitive tribesmen reside.

The rapid growth is further evidenced by the fact that the Russian embassy built on the fringe of the town in 1951 is now a part of the inner city.

"The people are wonderful," Reed said. "They are kind, polite, clean, courteous, trustworthy, industrious and very patient."

The city itself is not particularly inviting, however, he explained. The wall of buildings spring from the edge of the street. The lack of sidewalks and the heavy traffic make walking in the city a challenge, he added.

Reed also had slides of Persepolis, where the 2,500th anniversary of the first Persian empire was celebrated in 1971. The area is now a complex of political ruins which were originally constructed on an enormous platform carved in the side of a mountain.

Reed and his wife Helen visited Isfahan, an educational center and the country's second largest city, and Shiraz before leaving the country.

Before returning home, the couple spent six days in Afghanistan. The capital city, Kabul, is located more than one mile above sea level, Kabul, is located more than one mile above sea level and is protected by the Afghanistan air force — a squadron of four biplanes. Although the air protection left much to be desired, modern colleges and technical schools dot the country. Neighboring oil-rich countries have provided technical assistance and aided construction.

One of the most majestic scenes were viewed during a side trip to Kabul Gorge in a rugged mountain region. The countryside is adorned with mud-walled towns and primitive temples. The highlight of this rustic area is a 70-foot statue of Budha which is carved in the surrounding sandstone cliffs.

Visiting Rotarians included Art Dick of Mount Sterling, Jerry Ardrey of London, Dr. James Rose and Darrell French of Wilmington, Richard Kilian of the Mount Joy, Pa., Rotary, and Bob McEwen of Hillsboro.

Guests included Dan Isham with Bruce Ream, Andy Anderson with Bill Williams, and Fred Exlabein with Charles Mustine.

Dan Davis, a student at Miami Trace High School, also attended.

inches over the established average. Washington C.H. has received 39.04 inches of actual precipitation through November and the over-the-years average is 35.96 inches for 11 months.

Last year, precipitation totaled 2.21 inches during November, Stookey reported.

Buy ducats in Cleveland

Lucky ticketholder 'outsmarts' lottery

After watching several Ohio Lottery telecasts a Bainbridge area resident came to the conclusion that Cleveland residents were winning more often than persons living in other areas of the state; his solution was simple — buy lottery tickets in Cleveland.

As a result of his ingenious plot to outfox the lottery commission, John Mick, Rt. 1, Bainbridge, will appear on television Thursday in the Buckeye 1,000. He will compete with seven other winners for the top prize of $2,000-a-month for life.

Mick, an employee of Elden A. Armbrust Septic Tanks, 1001 Armbrust Ave., asked Dan Armbrust, who was going to Cleveland on a business trip, to purchase a ticket for him. Last Thursday, the television announcer read just the right combination of numbers to make Cleveland's "adopted son" a winner.

Ticket in hand, he traveled to Columbus Monday to have the winning stub verified, and he was scheduled to appear for Thursday's televised final competition. The "knockout rounds" will be held in a studio in — where else? — Cleveland.

Mick's only regret might be that although he watched last Thursday's program, he did not have his ticket with him at the time. His mother, with whom he resides, was watching it at home while her son was at a friend's house in Greenfield.

She was holding the ticket as the announcer compiled the winning digits. She managed to sufficiently control her excitement to travel to Greenfield where she located her son.

"Mother was really excited," Mick said. "she had never won anything before in her life."

Although he was played the lottery frequently in the past, Mick said he had never won so much as a dime.

Come to think of it, how could he — none of his other tickets were purchased in Cleveland.

Man offers policeman ride, lands in jail

A 71-year-old Washington C.H. man chose the wrong time to befriend a police officer and offer to do a favor.

Ike Stewart, 1343 Grace St., was charged with driving while intoxicated at 4 p.m. Tuesday after he saw Washington C.H. Police Sgt. Virgil Harris walking to his car on N. Fayette Street and stopped to offer Sgt. Harris a ride. Stewart had been in the police department previously in an intoxicated condition seeking help in finding his car and police officers called Stewart a cab and instructed him to go home. When he approached Sgt. Harris, the police officer reached into the auto and turned off the key asking, "Ike, what are you doing in this automobile?" Stewart replied he was going home and Sgt. Harris stated, "Oh no you're not!"

Stewart was later released on $500 bond.

Volunteers needed locally to help arthritis patients

Mrs. William C. Malone of Washington C.H. will conduct an organizational meeting on December 10 at 7:30 p.m. for persons interested in forming a volunteer group of the Arthritis Foundation in Fayette County.

The meeting will be held in the conference room at Fayette County Memorial Hospital, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Guest speaker at the meeting will be Frank Hirsch, a member of the staff of the Central Ohio chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, who will describe the need for a local volunteer group and the services available from the foundation.

Mrs. Malone stressed the urgent need for the new group in Fayette County, stating that "over 2500 residents of our county have arthritis severe enough to require medical care." She added, "There is much the patients themselves can and should do to understand more about their disease, and to help their physicians in controlling the disabling effects of arthritis."

Free arthritis literature from the Arthritis Foundation will be distributed at the meeting, and self-help devices for arthritis patients will be displayed.

Hirsch urges anyone interested in helping arthritis patients in Fayette County, to contact Mrs. Malone (335-2487) for more details, and to attend the meeting which is open to the public.

Torture case investigated

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Dr. John Delaney, superintendent of Apple Creek State Institute, says a hearing will be held Thursday for three attendants accused of negligence in the case of a woman inmate who had her fingernails and two nails on each foot ripped out.

Delaney said the institution's committee on resident abuse reached a unanimous decision alleging neglect after questioning eight employees and deliberating seven hours.

"It is neglect that someone had their fingernails torn off," said Delaney.

He said the committee urged that the State Highway Patrol continue its investigation of the case involving Lottie Ann Leonhart, 26.

Toaster cord shorts

A short in an electric toaster cord at the Glidden Sparkman residence at 559 Frank St., created a fire-run for Washington C.H. firefighters at 8:31 a.m. Wednesday.

Firemen unplugged the toaster and reported minor charring of the wall area surrounding the electrical socket.

Cincy's first woman mayor follows first black mayor

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati's conservative reputation faded further as its first regularly elected woman mayor succeeded the city's first black mayor.

"We women have made small progress in obtaining progress in legislative bodies and even less in the realm of higher offices such as mayor and governor," said Mrs. Bobbie Sterne, after she was sworn Monday succeeding retiring Mayor Theodore M. Berry.

"It is therefore another landmark in the effort of women to become equal partners with men in the responsibilities of running our government."

The office is largely ceremonial since the city manager is the chief executive of the city. Mrs. Sterne, a member of

Classes studying family life

By KEN MOON

The Family Living classes at Miami Trace study many different aspects of family life. The current subject is marriage. The classes have planned and produced mock weddings. The weddings are very real to life with a bride and groom, bridesmaid and best man, and a reception following the wedding.

The students are getting good practical experience in planning such an event. In a few cases some students are heading toward weddings in the near future and are making good use of this experience. The lucky couples in the mock weddings were Diane Burke and Scott Gerber, and Keith Montgomery and Susan Milstead.

Math helped prisoner in Cuba

CLEVELAND (AP) — Everett White owes a debt to mathematics.

The 30-year-old Cadiz, Ohio, native says solving arithmetic problems helped keep him sane during six years in Cuba after he and two friends hijacked an airplane from Miami to Havana in 1969.

White is now living in Cleveland with a brother after returning to this country in April. He says he hopes to finish high school, take a course in computers and eventually work in mathematics.

As far as the FBI knows, his two friends still are in Cuba, and are wanted here on air piracy charges.

"Whenever I could get a pencil stub and a piece of paper, I used to work out mathematical problems. I had to do it to exercise my mind," he says.

The Vietnam veteran is also looking for a coauthor to help him write about his experiences that began on a sunny day in Atlanta in January 1969.

That day, White and two hometown friends boarded a flight bound for Miami. They commanded the plane and the pilot set a course for Havana. But that was as far as they had planned. When the plane landed in Havana, authorities took the three men into custody.

"When we landed, we didn't know what to expect. We hadn't thought it out at all. It was just an irrational act," said White.

For the next 28 days, White and his friends were kept in one-man cells in Havana. Then they were taken to the rural Camaguey Province and put to work in the fields cutting sugar cane.

"We met other skyjackers, from the United States and Latin America," White said. "We worked 10 hours a day in the fields, six days a week in temperatures of between 90 and 100."

Audio visual equipment on auditorium stage

Audio visual department complete

The Miami Trace Audio-Visual Department is one of the largest and most complete in the area. It has a huge inventory of equipment, ranging from six 16mm Optical Sound Moire projectors and three 8mm and three Super 8mm projectors, to many filmstrips, opaques, and record players. It also contains a television system for the entire school. Cable television is being installed with ten television sets for classroom use.

The most useful pieces of equipment are the three video tape recorders. Two of these recorders are color, one is black and white. Each machine can be used to record football or basketball games or any sport. This enables the players to see their games and see where they can improve themselves. These recorders are also used in classrooms to tape speeches, oral reports, or other verbal assignments so students may see how they did. They are useful in taping educational television programs that are on in the evening for classroom use. There are many recorded programs on hand to show. In essence, we have everything in the latest equipment for classroom use.

Miami Trace has the area's best auditorium, which holds 1,400 people. It has the facilities to successfully present any type of show. It also has an "Altec Lansing" sound system that was installed by experts and is specially tuned for optimum performance, especially in the range of the human voice. The stage has the best lighting facilities in this region. The light control board had full switching capability and can handle at least 60,000 watts of light.

The audio-visual director, Mr. William Beatty, takes great pride in our department and makes sure it is in top shape.

We owe a special thanks to Mr. Curtis Fleisher because he takes a special interest in our department. Without him, our department wouldn't be so well equipped.

Open house held at MT

Junior class holds magazine sale

By KIM CONLEY

Would you like to buy a magazine subscription?

This question has been asked of many people in the past few weeks. Why has this question been so important? Here's why.

Each year the junior class sells magazine subscriptions to pay for the prom. This year was no exception. After much hard work the sale is over and here is how it went: The top salesman was Lois Hale who sold 67 subscriptions for a total of $467.09. Larry Detty was the second salesman, and Neil Spears was third. Jay Bloomer, was fourth; Cindi Grover, fifth and Kim Riley was sixth.

The big highlight of the sale was a secret envelope with the name of a mystery student inside. The junior whose name was inside that envelope would receive $50 if they had sold eight subscriptions. At the end of the sale when the envelope was opened, weeping and moans were probably heard. Joel Elzroth, the mystery student had not sold his eight subscriptions. So Joel received a Reese Cup which in no way could compensate for $50. Sorry Joel.

Of National Labor Relations Act*Local firm ruled 'in violation'

The National Labor Relations Board has ruled that the Dyna Corp., 1110 Lakeview Ave., has been guilty of several violations of the National Labor Relations Act.

The decision was rendered by Judge Jerry B. Stone, administrative law judge, and is subject to appeal in the sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. An appeal of the decision is expected.

Dyna Corp. was charged with improper interrogation of employees concerning union activity, improper restrictions concerning solicitation of employees on behalf of a union, improperly aiding a union, discriminating against two employees because of their union beliefs, and violation of the act by refusing to bargain with an authorized union group.

The complaint, brought by District Lodge 82 of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, AFL-CIO, was upheld on all counts by Judge Stone.

According to the decision rendered, employees of the firm disbanded an independent union on January 29, 1975. At the same time the employees resolved to become affiliated with Lodge No. 82 of Springfield.

A short time later, company president James H. Diehl and plant manager Joseph Daugherty questioned employees John Bunch and Charlotte Shoemaker concerning the affiliation with the AFL-CIO lodge. They reportedly offered to support a movement against affiliation with the lodge. They also cited a company policy which barred the distribution of union literature on company property.

The firm refused to recognize Lodge 82 as the employees' bargaining agent and instead recognized a minority group which had formed a second independent union.

Although Bunch and Ms. Shoemaker were apparently entitled to seniority protection as shop committee members for Lodge No. 82, both were laid off a short time later. The employer contended that they were entitled to no protection from layoffs because they did not hold offices in the independent union being recognized.

The layoffs occurred shortly after Bunch had testified before a labor relations board hearing which found for the employees and against the company.

Judge Stone found that all of the allegations against the company were well founded and ordered the company to recognize Lodge No. 82 as the bargaining agent. He also ordered that the firm turn over to the lodge all monies withheld as union dues for the independent union.

Further orders included:

- Reinstatement of Bunch and Ms. Shoemaker to their former positions with full restitution for loss of wages during the interim;

- Withdrawing all recognition of the independent union;

- Not laying off or discriminating against employees because of union affiliation or offering testimony concerning labor relations;

- Not coercively interrogating employees concerning union beliefs;

- Not to maintain an unlawful no-solicitation rule which prohibits distribution of union literature on company property; and

- Recognizing the layoff protection of Bunch and Ms. Shoemaker as long as they are shop committee members for Lodge No. 82.

YULETIDE SPIRIT — Members of the Court House Manor Nursing Home on Glenn Avenue trimmed the Christmas tree at left, Tuesday, and sang Christmas carols. They were visited by many friends, and all were treated to refreshments throughout the festivities.

Teamsters plan huge demands

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Teamsters Union, contending that the ceiling on cost-of-living increases has cost its members money, will demand its removal when its negotiators open talks next week, a union report says.

And the bargaining team that will be working toward a new three-year master contract also will ask the nation's trucking companies to raise wages $2.50 an hour, a dollar more than had been expected, the report says.

The Akron Beacon Journal reported Tuesday it had obtained a copy of the report and confirmed it with a local Teamster official.

The Teamsters report dated Nov. 25 also says the union wants pension, health and welfare funds increased even more than the raise that must come as the industry brings its pension practices into conformity with a new federal law.

Talks on a new three-year contract are scheduled to begin Dec. 11 in Washington D.C. The current pact that covers about 450,000 Teamsters expires next March 31.

Under the present agreement, union drivers average a minimum of $7.05 an hour. When their mileage total is substantial, they may get more under a mileage rate of 17.9 cents per mile.

The report says the Teamsters will propose increasing that rate by six cents over the next three years. The union also will ask that hourly pay be raised $1.50 effective March 1 and then 75 cents in each of the next two years.

Union sources indicated that $2.50 total is considered to be a starting point which the final compromise will reduce. But Richard Collinson, president of Teamster Local 24 here, predicted that reaching a settlement will be as tough as in any past bargaining.

The report says the Teamsters will demand twice-yearly payment of cost-of-living increases, along with removal of the current maximum of 11 cents an hour that's determined on an annual basis.

Collinson said the cost-of-living limit and lack of any such provision in the first year of the current contract have cost Teamster members 79 cents an hour so far.

As for pensions, industry sources have predicted the trucking companies will ask the Teamsters to absorb the cost occasion by the new federal law. The companies apparently hoped the union would accept lower direct raises and fringe benefits. Collinson said he doesn't expect the union will be willing to do so.

Finally, the proposal also calls for establishing separate negotiation procedures to deal with union requests for major and costly safety features.

Soviets permanent buyers of grain?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Soviet Union is likely to be a permanent fixture in the international grain market, the assistant secretary of agriculture for international affairs said Tuesday.

Richard E. Bell, during an appearance at the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation annual convention, said it is unlikely the Soviet Union will ever produce enough grain to meet its needs.

"I don't think they have the capability to produce the quantity of grain they need," Bell said. "So, over a period of time, we expect them to continue to be large, continual buyers."

Health board eyes 'sunshine law'

The first topic discussed Tuesday by the Fayette County Board of Health was the new "sunshine law" which became effective Nov. 28.

Although board members stated that no attempt had been made in the past to conceal meetings, they were receptive to making an effort to see that the public was well aware of their meetings in advance.

The board holds regular meetings the first Tuesday of each month at 1 p.m. in the Fayette County Health Department office, 129 N. Hinde St. In addition, a special meeting has been scheduled Dec. 16 to conclude business for the 1975 year.

The board reviewed the food facilities plans for two new area restaurants, Famous Recipe Fried Chicken, at the former Red Barn location, and Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers, next to the Goodyear store at the Washington Square Shopping Center. The food services were approved for both.

Increasing numbers of microwave ovens are being used commercially and by homeowners. Since improperly adjusted or mishandled units may produce hazardous radiation, the board approved the purchase of testing equipment. This equipment will be used to monitor commercial ovens and will be available to test home units if requested by the owners.

Restrictions and requirements for sewage disposal installations in Fayette County are outlined in a guidebook which received final approval of the board. The regulations will be printed and made available within the next week or two.

The only other action taken by the board during the meeting was approval of the purchase of an audiometer. The unit which tests hearing ability will be used primarily in area schools.

Dr. William E. Covert, county health commissioner, said the 1976 budget was reviewed and the proposed appropriations were approved. The board anticipates revenue of approximately $110,000 during the year. Of that amount $80,000 will be used for general health programs while a number of supplementary programs will share $30,000.

School suit planned as lever

CINCINNATI (AP)—The general council for the NAACP said the civil rights organization will use desegregation suits against five school districts in Ohio in an attempt to place responsibility for desegregation with state governments nationally.

Nathaniel Jones, in a telephone interview from Cleveland where he attended a school trial, said state officials will force local boards of education to desegregate schools once they realize they are destined to lose lawsuits.

The NAACP has suits pending in federal courts involving school districts in Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Dayton and Youngstown.

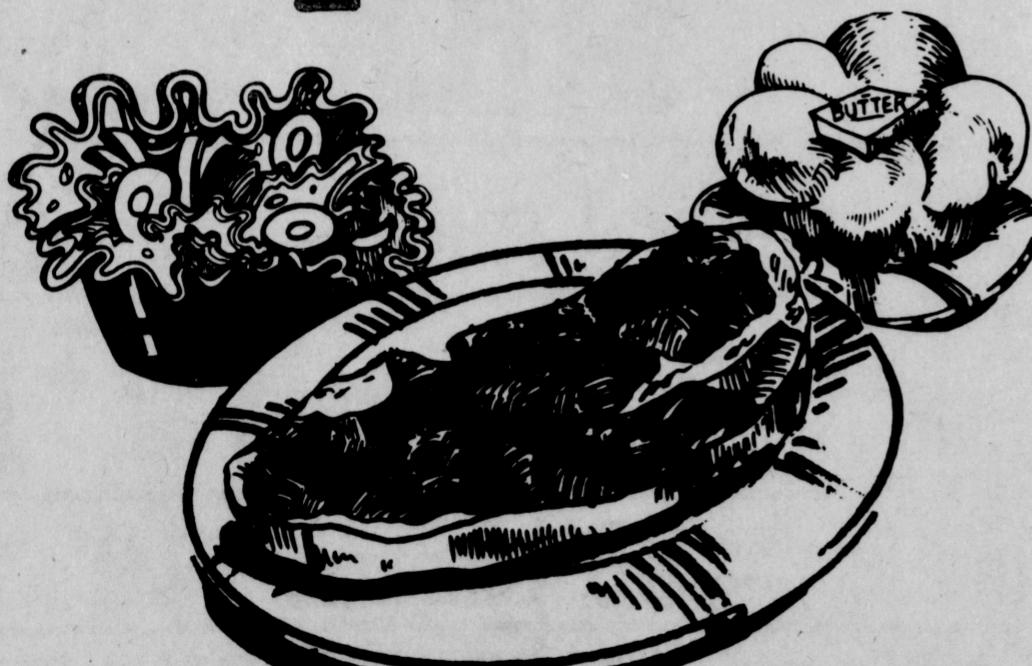

"We have more current suits in Ohio than in any other state. Segregation in Ohio schools is more extreme than in other places," Jones said.

County school board handles variety of matters at meet

Members of the Fayette County Board of Education handled several matters listed during their semi-monthly meeting Tuesday in the county offices on E. Court Street.

Board members dealt with the monthly financial statement, Ohio Senate Bill No. 74, the heating situation this winter, employment and Title IX resolution. Board members also heard a presentation by Mrs. Vicki Snow, dealing with her job as a Miami Trace High School counselor.

The monthly financial statement was not accepted by board members due to errors and suggested changes in the statement. Clerk, Mrs. Martha Flemming, who is being trained to operate the recently purchased computer auditing machine, admitted to accidentally putting identical cards in twice which resulted in an incorrect balance. Board members also suggested changes in the read-out form which would make the statement less complicated. Board member Marion Waddle moved the board not accept the statement until such changes were made and fellow members agreed.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster read a resolution pertaining to the newly initiated Senate Bill 74, commonly known as the "sunshine bill," which went into effect Nov. 28. Superintendent Foster's resolution, which board members unanimously approved by roll call vote, declared all activities of the board open to the public except where the law provides for a closed or executive session in cases dealing with appointment, dismissal, discipline, promotion or compensation of an employee or the investigation of charges against an employee or student unless the employee or student requests an open hearing; the purchase of property for public purposes or the sale of property at competitive bidding, disputes which are the subject of pending or imminent court action in conference with an attorney; preparing for conducting or reviewing negotiations or bargaining sessions with employees; matters required to be kept confidential by federal law or state status; and specialized details of security arrangements. It was further resolved that news media have 24 hour advance notification of meetings and other subscribers who provide a self-addressed, stamped envelope in which notification will be mailed.

Last year's policy concerning extracurricular use of schools was renewed by board members in that no gymnasium heated by natural gas will be open for public use outside of school time. Wayne Elementary School in Good Hope, which is coal-heated, may be an exception to this policy.

The following employments were authorized by board members: Jo Ann Straley, Dorothy Newman, and Elnora Funk as substitute aides with the adult basic education program; Joyce Everage and Bob Massie as substitute custodians, and Janet Collins as district lunch supervisor, effective Dec. 15. A resignation was granted Nancy Johnson, third grade elementary school teacher at Wayne Elementary School, by board members effective Dec. 19.

A unanimous roll-call vote by board members led to the adoption of Title IX which concerns discrimination and states, "no person in the United States shall on basis of sex be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance..." The regulation became law July 21.

A contract was renewed with the Franklin County School System by board members for data processing services which will amount to $1.50 per student or a total of $1,575 for the 1976-77 school year.

Assistant Superintendent Steve Yambor presented a report dealing with the recent visitation of Ohio Board of Education representatives to the adult basic education program. Their reaction was favorable and Assistant Superintendent Yambor stated many persons without a high school education are becoming involved in the program because they are serious about advancing their present level of education and realize a quality job is being offered through the program.

Mrs. Vicki Snow, Miami Trace High School counselor, presented a talk concerning her duties in the position she holds. She explained to board members her job covers everything from unexpected student pregnancies and discipline problems to job and advanced education placement. "The Miami Trace School District has one of the best counseling services available anywhere because we (herself and fellow counselors Fred Doyle and Mrs. Margaret Dowler) are full-time counselors, whereas many counselors are teachers and administrators also," she stated. Mrs. Snow concluded her talk by saying she would like to see counseling services available at the elementary and junior high school levels in the county.

Judge hears two cases

A Fayette County man was found guilty of disorderly conduct by fighting and a Washington C.H. man was cleared of a criminal mischief charge filed against him during Tuesday's municipal court proceedings conducted by acting Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge John P. Case.

Walter D. Aills, 24, Bogus Road, was arrested by Washington C.H. Police Specialist William Cales at 2:30 a.m. Saturday and charged with disorderly conduct by fighting when Specialist Cales observed Aills to strike Orville Myers twice at the intersection of Court and Fayette streets. Judge Case found Aills guilty of the charge and fined him $50 and court costs. Aills had pleaded not guilty.

Jerry H. Brown, 27, of 1117 Rawlings St., was cleared of a charge levied against him through a private warrant filed by Harry Wheeler executed by Washington C.H. police for criminal mischief. Judge Case dismissed the case for lack of prosecution and waived the court costs. Brown allegedly smashed the windshield of Wheeler's auto with a club in the municipal lot on S. Fayette Street Saturday.

George H. Shull, born in Clark County, Ohio, in 1874, studied botany at Antioch College and in 1942 was credited with having increased by many millions of dollars a year the value of the American corn crop.

Two MT students honored for arc welding projects

Two Miami Trace High School students have received awards for their performance in national arc welding competition. Senior Keith Montgomery captured a first place in regional competition.

Montgomery, who submitted a written report outlining the design and construction of a livestock trailer, received a $200 cash award from the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation.

Sixth place in the regional competition was captured by Mike Sollars, whose project was a hog ringing crate. He received $25 for his efforts.

Montgomery and Sollars, a junior, are instructed by William Diley and Charles Andrews, the school's vocational agriculture teachers.

Some 272 students in 37 states were recognized by the foundation for outstanding projects. Awards totaling $15,000 were distributed to the participants.

The program objectives include increasing student interest in arc welding and to encourage development of their communicative skills.

Written entries are judged by a panel of teachers and state supervisors in education. Awards ranging from $25 to $500 are available to the participants. Competition is divided into four geographic regions and also by project classification.

Judging factors include usefulness of the project, ability and judgment shown in design and construction, effective use of arc welding and clarity and completeness of the description and illustration of the project.

'Chemical cook' busy in kitchen

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Julia Child probably would turn in her apron if she worked in this kitchen. One of the cook's specialties is a cake—made without eggs or milk.

That's because the cook really is a chemist who is more interested in the flour which goes into the cookies and cake than the final product.

The Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, under the supervision of Dr. William Yamazaki, operates a soft wheat quality laboratory here to test milling and baking qualities of new wheat lines.

The regional facility is one of four maintained by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, agriculture research service in cooperation with about 17 wheat breeders in states and provinces where soft red winter wheat and soft white winter wheat are grown.

Flour from these varieties is used primarily for cakes and cookies.

Breeders create new lines of wheat by placing selected pollen on wheat flowers. With each succeeding generation more seed is acquired and it can be tested for qualities to determine its success as a commercial variety for farmers.

Yamazaki says a wheat line can have all the agronomic qualities a farmer

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Gail Kowaleski says more than a year of inspecting Western Kentucky coal mines for the state has taught her to stand up to miners and won her the respect of her supervisors.

Checking 17 strip mines every two weeks involves plenty of leg work and paper work, but the slender 23-year-old inspector has proved herself equal to it since she was hired 13 months ago.

"My hips don't get in the way of climbing the spoil, if that's what you want to know," said Ms. Kowaleski, one of two female inspectors for the state reclamation division.

The women generally feel they are treated fairly, she said, though it takes a sense of humor to put up with some of the problems, such as community gossip.

"The rumors are ridiculous," she said. "One moment I'm supposed to be a lesbian and the next story says I'm sleeping with every coal operator."

"As a matter of fact, there are a couple of operators I'd like to date, but the division strongly suggests we avoid any conflict of interest," she said.

Gallantry isn't dead in the coalfields — one man pulled her out of the mud when she was stuck up to her boot tops — but mischief may not be, either, she said.

"The first time I was out alone I had two flats and I've always wondered if that was really a coincidence," she said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The rehearsal piano was pounding out the Jerome Kern tune as Mary Francis Crosby swirled about the floor with choreographer Peter Gennaro.

Across the hall, Ginger Rogers, looking trim and athletic as ever, was hard at work on preparations for a new nightclub act.

In a small room downstairs, Bing and Kathryn Crosby and Fred Astaire were running through a scene for Bing's Christmas special on CBS tonight under the scrutiny of producer-directors Dwight Hemion and Gary Smith.

It was a show-bizzy day at the Academy of Music and Dance, a studio on Doheny Drive in Beverly Hills. When the Crosbys and Astaire finished the run-through, they joined the rest of the TV rehearsal group upstairs. Bing and Fred stopped for hugs with Ginger, who was there by coincidence.

Astaire and Crosby gathered around a piano for a rendition of the Carole King song, "You've Got a Friend," accompanied by the accomplished guitar of Harry Crosby, Bing's handsome 17-year-old son. Also aboard for tonight's special is 14-year-old Nathaniel Crosby.

Between numbers, the two men who ruled song and dance in their generation reminisced with a visitor. "When did we last work together?"

Think fumes caused fatal blast

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Massillon Fire Chief Michael Bednar says investigators think "accumulated vapors" from gasoline used to burn La Cuisina restaurant caused a tremendous explosion that wrecked the building and killed three firemen.

Bednar said Tuesday investigators had found in the wreckage several "white plastic five-gallon containers" believed to have been used for gasoline and "leading officials to believe aggravated arson was the cause" of the Sunday night fire.

Two other persons injured in the explosion remained in area hospitals. Fire Capt. Joseph Glossen was listed in fair condition, and Norman Reader, a nearby resident who went to help firemen after a first, small explosion touched off a fire at La Cuisina, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Glossen and Reader said they were at the west side of the restaurant when the wall collapsed in that second blast. Both were buried.

"The sad part was I could hear the others that were trapped calling for help," Glossen said. "I don't know which voices were which."

"We'll get out," I called to them. I knew they were right near by," he added.

He said he could hear rescue workers calling, "Hang in there; we'll get to you."

Cobb nabs All-Ohio honors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Greg Cobb, three-year standout for the Miami Trace football team, was named to the Associated Press' Class AAA first-team, all-Ohio squad.

The senior linebacker was joined by four teammates; Sam Grooms, Bill Warnock, Steve Wilson and Bruce Ervin, who earned special mention all-state honors.

Cobb was one of three Southeastern District grididers to be selected to the first-team squad. Steve Swinehart of Lancaster was named as a defensive back and Mark Geisler, an offensive end from Marietta, also found a spot on the all-state team.

Coach Mike Currence and fullback Joe Portale of mythical state champion Lakewood St. Edward landed two of the prize plums.

Currence, leading St. Edward to 10 straight regular season victories, was named the Ohio Coach of the Year.

Portale, a raw-boned 213-pound senior coveted by the nation's major colleges, earned the Back of the Year title for gaining 1,209 yards and scoring 20 touchdowns during the season.

Pat Boggs, 6-foot-2, 210-pound senior linebacker for Upper Arlington, was hailed as the State Lineman of the Year. Also highly sought by big-time college powers, Boggs participated in an average of 28 tackles a game this fall.

The selections, based strictly on regular season performances, were made with the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters:

Holland, too, found satisfaction in the running statistics. "We can run and we have run. This talk that we can't run really gets me. I consider myself a good run blocker, but the hardest thing in football is pass blocking. We're not running because passing is what works best for us."

"When it comes down to the showdown, we'll show people," said Holland.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Utah Stars will be the third American Basketball Association team to discontinue operations this season — unless there is unexpected outside action to save them.

Owner Bill Daniels disclosed at a news conference Monday he had failed in his efforts to save the team but that he planned to appear before ABA trustees today in Chicago. Daniels said there was an "outside possibility ... but very outside," the league will keep the team in operation.

He said he was more inclined to think the league would auction off the players, as it did when the Baltimore Claws and San Diego Sails folded earlier this season. Daniels failed to make the players' payroll Monday, freeing them to play elsewhere unless paid by the league.

It was another ominous development in a year of uncertainty for the ABA. Besides the teams to fold, questions have been raised about the future of two other teams, the Virginia Squires and Spirits of St. Louis.

Conner doubtful for home opener

By PHIL LEWIS

Record-Herald Sports Editor

Miami Trace will be trying to get on the winning track Friday night, when they open their home basketball slate with a game against league newcomer Madison Plains.

Coach John Wollums' squad dropped its first two outings by a mere three points apiece, and conditions are far from promising for the Panthers to break out of a ten-game losing streak which spans two seasons.

One serious problem has cropped up for Trace as high-scoring guard Alan Conner is listed as doubtful for the home opener. Conner, who paced the Panthers with 26 points in last week's loss to Wilmington, strained an upper-leg muscle in practice Thursday.

Despite treatment, Conner has been unable to suit up for practice. He did a little running Tuesday, but coach Wollums said he wouldn't hesitate to keep Conner on the bench if he wasn't fully recovered.

Pasadena next stop for Archie, Bucks

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Where does Archie Griffin go from here? Well, his next stop is Pasadena, Calif., for a Rose Bowl date with UCLA and then, hopefully, it's on to pro football for the only player ever to win the Heisman Trophy twice.

Hopefully, that is, because Griffin stands only 5-foot-9—if you press him he'll confess to 5-8½—and weighs 184 pounds, a drop in the bucket among all those gantuan pro linemen he'll be running into.

"I'd like to play pro ball," Griffin said Tuesday at the Downtown Athletic Club where he was announced as the Heisman winner for an unprecedented second year in a row. "I want to help my family out because they've helped me in all my endeavors."

"But I really don't want to go into that now because we have another game to play and I'd trade both Heismans for the national championship. That's been the goal of our team since I was a freshman. This is the closest now we've ever come. People think of the national championship as more of a team thing than the Heisman Trophy."

Coach Woody Hayes of No. 1-ranked Ohio State, who accompanied Griffin from Columbus, Ohio, for Tuesday's announcement—Griffin will formally receive the trophy at a dinner Dec. 11—has no doubts about Griffin's future in the pros.

"Maybe he's not as big as they like, but he's as brave as they like," Hayes said. "I have no doubt he can play in the pros. He epitomizes everything you want in an athlete—great ability and great courage—and he's the best leader we've ever had."

"He combines speed and power and runs the ball better than any back we've ever had. And I've never seen a player who engenders the respect in other players that he does."

Griffin won the 1975 Heisman by outdistancing running backs Chuck Muncie of California and Ricky Bell of Southern Cal. Griffin received 454 first-place ballots, 167 seconds and 103 thirds from 888 sports writers and broadcasters across the country. On a 3-2-1 basis, that amounted to 1,800 points. Muncie (145-104-87) received 730 point to 708 for Bell (70-169-160).

Rounding out the top 10 finishers were running backs Tony Dorsett of Pitt, Joe Washington of Oklahoma and Jimmy DuBose of Florida, quarterback John Sciarrone of UCLA, running back Gordon Bell of Michigan, defensive tackle Leroy Selmon of Oklahoma and quarterback Gene Swick of Toledo.

Griffin carried four of the country's five sections—East, South, Midwest and Southwest—finishing behind Muncie in the Far West. He carried 245 times for 1,357 yards, finishing seventh nationally behind Bell, the leader, No. 3 Dorsett, and No. 4 Muncie.

Buckeyes end grid season atop AP poll

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

Ohio State is the 1975 regular-season champion of college football.

The Buckeyes, who completed a perfect 11-0 season a week ago and will meet UCLA in the Rose Bowl, received 50 first-place votes and 1,144 of a possible 1,160 points today from a nationwide Associated Press panel of 58 sports writers and broadcasters.

Texas A&M, Oklahoma and Alabama held onto the next three spots. The Texas Aggies ran their record to 10-0 with one game remaining with a 20-10 triumph over Texas and received seven first-place votes and 1,038 points. Last week, the Aggies trailed 1,168-1,010.

Oklahoma, 10-1 and bound for the Orange Bowl, received the other first-place vote and 890 points. Alabama ran its record to 10-1 by blanking Auburn 28-0 and earned 761 points.

The final poll to determine the 1975 champion will be taken following the bowl games.

By losing to Texas A&M, the Texas Longhorns dropped from fifth place to ninth. That permitted Michigan, Nebraska and Arizona State to move up one position apiece to fifth, sixth and seventh places. Michigan and Nebraska finished up a week ago but Arizona State, 11-0, nailed down the Western Athletic Conference crown and a berth in the Fiesta Bowl by shading Arizona 24-21.

Idle Sugar Bowl-bound Penn State climbed from 10th to eighth followed by Texas and idle Colorado, which was ninth last week.

The Second Ten consists of UCLA, Georgia, Florida, California, Arizona, Miami of Ohio, Maryland, Arkansas, Kansas and Pitt.

Here are the Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Big Ten basketball teams dominate non-leaguers

By The Associated Press

Big Ten basketball teams have now extended their early season dominance over outside schools to 11-2, with Iowa fighting back from a halftime deficit against Nebraska and Michigan coasting past Vanderbilt Tuesday night.

Iowa was down by six at halftime, but took the lead for good at 60-58 and went on to beat the Cornhuskers 72-65 in a nonconference basketball game at Iowa City.

Bruce King, who led Iowa with 25 points and 12 rebounds, clinched the game on a fourpoint play with 32 seconds left.

King led Iowa scorers with 25 points and had a team high 12 rebounds, and Scott Thompson added 18.

"When it got down to where we needed buckets, King got them for us," said second year Iowa Coach Lute Olson. "Another big factor in the game was the fans. When the fans respond, like these did tonight, you can't let up."

The loss dropped Nebraska to 1-2 while the Hawkeyes are now 2-0.

Guard Jerry Ford led Nebraska with 25 points.

By contrast, the game at Ann Arbor was never in doubt, as Michigan opened its season with a 90-63 victory. Michigan raced to a 14-4 lead and Vanderbilt trailed the rest of the evening.

Five Wolverines scored in double figures, with Phil Hubbard and John Robinson leading the way with 17 points each.

Opening lead - jack of hearts.

There is no royal road to good bridge. In many deals one has to sweat and strain to achieve the best result, and anyone who thinks otherwise is sure to suffer painful disappointment from time to time.

For example, if declarer in this deal follows the lazy man's route of placing all his hopes on the black-suit finesses, he winds up going down one. True, he has a 3 to 1 chance of making the slam by finessing, but he has another method of play that offers a better chance.

South should win the heart lead in dummy, cash the A-K of diamonds, discarding two spades, and ruff a diamond with the ten of clubs. Now, having discovered that the diamonds are divided 4-3, he is practically certain to make the slam.

His next play should be the three of clubs! This unusual play ensures the extra entry to dummy he requires to establish dummy's diamonds.

Let's say West goes up with the queen of clubs and returns the ten of hearts. Declarer wins with the queen, plays the seven of trumps to the nine, and ruffs a diamond with the jack.

After drawing West's last trump, he enters dummy with a heart, discards the queen of spades on the nine of diamonds, and so chalks up a vulnerable slam.

The suggested line of play is somewhat more complicated than relying on East to have the queen of clubs or king of spades and finessing against either or both of them. But that is not a good enough reason for relinquishing the possibility of establishing dummy's diamonds — even though it takes a little more sweat of the brow to accomplish this mission.

Speaking of Your Health... Lester L. Coleman, M.D.*Reacting to TV Drug Pitches

How should an educated consumer react to the sales pitch of drugs that can be purchased over the counter? It seems that every other TV commercial touts the advantage of one drug over another.

Mr. J. S., Mich.

Dear Mr. S.: I am aware of the subtle and not-so-subtle advertising that seems to overwhelm the TV viewer.

Always the scene opens on an impressive book-lined study which implies that there is unquestionable scientific validity to a statement that is about to be made.

The deep, sincere, convincing voice that brings this new "scientific breakthrough" to the American people has the hallmark of "medical authority." The dark horn-rimmed glasses are meticulously set aside while the world waits to hear about the dramatic difference between laxatives, cold remedies, anti-allergy drugs or pain killers.

Hot showers are especially comforting. Drugs to relieve the spasm and simple pain-killers, are most effective.

You might try another type of pillow to be certain that no undue pressure is being put on neck muscles while you sleep.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled, "Pay Attention to Your Heart." For a copy send a self-addressed, large, self-addressed envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., Heart booklet, P.O. Box 517B, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

THE BETTER HALF*By Barnes*Food prices show boost

By The Associated Press

Prices gained slightly on the consumer at grocery stores in November, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. The shopper found lower prices for such items as pork chops and sugar, but they were more than offset by higher ones for eggs, butter and coffee.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

During November, the marketbasket total at the checklist store was up in seven cities, with an average hike of 3.7 per cent, and down in six cities, with an average drop of 2.6 per cent. Overall, the bill near the start of December was eighteenths of per cent more than a month earlier.

During October, the marketbasket bill increased in six cities and dipped in seven, and the change in prices overall for the month was an increase of three-tenths of 1 per cent.

The changes seemed to generally follow those at farm and wholesale levels. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported last Friday that from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, farmers were paid less for hogs and more for milk and eggs.

On the AP marketbasket, eggs increased in price at the 12 stores at which the checklist's medium Grade A size was available. The average increase for the 12 stores was 16 per cent.

Milk prices increased in 5 of the 13 stores, fell at two and remained at the same level in six.

Another item with price hikes was coffee, going up at seven stores, down at one and remaining the same at four. The type of coffee on the checklist was not available at the other store.

The change in coffee prices continued to reflect a frost in Brazil that heavily damaged that country's coffee crop. It has been slow to filter through to retailers because supermarkets often use coffee as a "loss-leader" to draw customers.

These higher prices were somewhat offset by lower prices for pork chops and sugar.

The price of sugar, which hit record levels and caused a consumer protest last year, continued to drift downward. It declined in six of the 12 stores where the variety to be checked was available and was up in only one. It was the same price in five other of the stores.

The price of pork chops was down in six checklist groceries, up in three and remained the same in four. However, the Agriculture Department warned that pork supplies would be "light" in December and said prices on both pork and beef would rise slightly in the first half of 1976.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut porkchops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-bean frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Sisters face gambling trial

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County prosecutor's office said Tuesday Mae Diana, 47, of Columbus, and Rosellen Susi, 53, of suburban Minerva Park, will go on trial in about a month on four-year-old second-offense gambling charges.

Scheduling of the trial follows the U.S. Supreme Court's refusal Monday to the sisters' argument that they were placed in double jeopardy when a grand jury indicted them.

The women, sisters of reputed numbers king Frank Baldassarre, appealed after the Ohio Supreme Court and 10th District Court of Appeals ruled the constitutional guarantee against double jeopardy did not apply in this case.

Second offense felony gambling charges, carrying long prison terms, were lodged against the women in 1971 after they were convicted in Municipal Court of misdemeanor gambling charges and served 30 days in the workhouse.

Owner of the burglarized residence, Arnold W. Keech, told Fayette County Sheriff's deputies his front door was not locked, rather nailed shut. Investigation is continuing.

Mystery contestant in lottery game

CLEVELAND (AP)—A mystery contestant will join those from Michigan, Kentucky and Ohio in trying for $1,000 per month Thursday night, when the first numbers in the new Super Santa lottery will be picked.

A lottery spokesman said Tuesday there will be eight Buckeye 1,000 contestants — five of them Ohioans — but that one has insisted on total anonymity. The spokesman said a substitute will sit in for the weekly telecast but that not even that person's name had been released to the lottery.

Meanwhile, addition of number selections for the Super Santa contest, the holiday game designed to boost interest in what traditionally is a slack period in lottery ticket sales, means a total of 11 sets of figures will be posted for prize determination.

The regular weekly telecast produces one three-digit, one four-digit, one five-digit and one six-digit set for the tickets from which comes the Buckeye 1,000 elimination that picks a winner of $1,000 per month for life.

In the Super Santa game, the process will produce four two-digit numbers plus one each of six digits, five digits and four digits. The prizes range from $10 to $1000.

The eight competitors this Thursday include Richard Schrader of Lansing, Mich., and Walter E. Armour of Bromley, Ky.

The five Ohioans named are James Severs of Marietta; Linda S. Briley, Reynoldsburg; John Mick, Bainbridge; Ester Bevan, Bucyrus; and Charles Mobley, Eaton.

Earlier Thursday, the lottery will get a new commissioner formally as James N. Iafelice, 64, a Cleveland labor union executive, takes his oath of office. His appointment was announced earlier.

Police cite three drivers

Three drivers were charged by Washington C.H. police officers with traffic offenses and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department is presently investigating two hit-skip mishaps.

A car driven by Debra J. Hughes, 22, of 327½ N. Main St. pulled from a parking space on Court Street near the Fayette Street intersection at 4 p.m. Tuesday and struck a truck driven by Herman Clouser, 48, Greenfield, at 4 p.m. Tuesday. Police charged Ms. Hughes with starting without safety.

A rear-end collision at the intersection of Court and Fayette streets at 2:50 p.m. Tuesday involved cars driven by Nancy L. Roark, 20, of 794 Knollwood Circle, and Betty L. Gatewood, 51, of 1165 Bogus Road. Police charged Ms. Roark with failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

A car driven by Ward E. Daniels, 84, of 413 Fifth St., struck a parked car owned by Alva W. Rinehart, 728 S. Main St., on Main Street near the Elm Street intersection at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Police charged Daniels with reckless operation.

A mailbox and post belonging to Joyce A. Justice, 942 Ohio 41-S, was struck by a hit-skip driver sometime Tuesday, Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported today.

Sheriff's deputies also reported a mailbox and post owned by Peg Snyder, 654 Jasper Coil Road, damaged by an unidentified driver sometime Monday.

Income tax hike urged at Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A one-half cent increase in the city's payroll income tax will be recommended by Mayor Harry Kessler.

In his state of the city address this week, Kessler said he will ask voters to approve at the November 1976 election an increase of the city's 1.5 per cent payroll tax to 2 per cent.

He expected the increase would bring in an additional $2 million in annual revenues to be added to the $34.2 million estimated to be received next year.

TUESDAY — Brenda Corey, 22, of 327½ N. Main St., failure to transfer license plates; Donald Clickner, 36 of 627 Harrison St., frauding a livery (failure to pay a taxicab driver); John F. Pierce, 18, of 807 Lakeview Ave., failure to obey a traffic device.

By The Associated Press

A cold front pushed through Ohio overnight and was expected to bring snow to the state today, particularly in the northern counties.

Temperatures this morning ranged from the 20s in the north to around 40 in the southeast. Most sections of the state reported cloudy or partly cloudy skies and light flurries occurred in parts of central Ohio.

High pressure along the Canadian border of Minnesota this morning will move southeast across Ohio tonight and a low over the Canadian Rockies will be approaching the Great Lakes Thursday night or Friday.

Ali gives to elderly

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali has come to the rescue of the Hillside Aged Program.

At 9 a.m. Tuesday, the program was on the verge of being closed for lack of funds to serve its 54 handicapped elderly clients. At 9:30 a.m., director Maria Brown answered a knock on the door. It was Ali.

"I understand you need a lot of money to stay open," Mrs. Brown quoted the boxer as saying. "Why don't you stay open. I'll give it to you."

News reports had said the center needs $100,000 for the next year and had been unable to get government aid. Social worker Frances Adler said Ali mentioned that figure and a little later raised it to $150,000. But he wanted to know where all the people were.
